Questions, or you would rather deal with me directly? Email andrew@braveheartspublishing.com and I will come back to you personally.

I am Andrew. I write these, I publish them, and I answer this inbox myself. There is no sales team behind me, which means nothing is going to be handled by someone who has not read the books.

Built for the reader who stalls. Short chapters, a lot of white space, and illustrations right through, so that finishing a chapter is an easy win rather than a slog. Each title is anchored to a real place, which gives a museum store, park store or nature center a book that matches exactly what a visitor just experienced.
